RADAR - Raising Awareness on Disinformation: Achieving Resilience

RADAR (www.tepsa.eu/projects/radar/) aims at raising citizens' awareness on disinformation and providing an accessible public platform for debate on the issue. Our project focuses on harnessing citizens' thoughts on disinformation (bottom-up), providing expert insights into protection against disinformation (top-down) and fomenting interaction and consultation between both (throughput). It will have a special focus on youth to contribute to the empowerment of their voices, their engagement in European civil society and improved education on critical thinking and media literacy. RADAR will especially focus on building up citizens' agency through training and the empowerment of citizens.

This activity is a joint action between the Trans European Policy Studies Association (TEPSA) and the Austrian Society for European Politics / Österreichische Gesellschaft für Europapolitik (ÖGfE) undertaken in the context of the European Union funded project “RADAR - Raising Awareness on Disinformation: Achieving Resilience”.
